

AVI Format Converter Guide

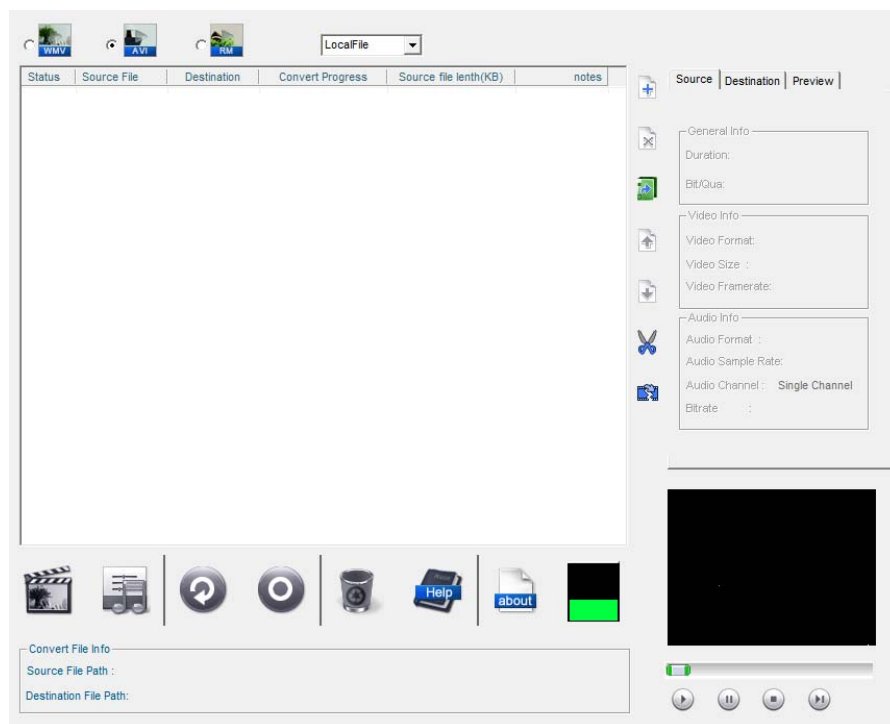

V1.0.2

Application

The video files backup from DVR is by H.264 format, which can be played by the Player offer by DVR. If you want to play the video files by Windows Media Player on Windows system, you have to convert the video from H.264 to AVI format. So the "AVI Format Convert" software will help you to convert the format.

Installation

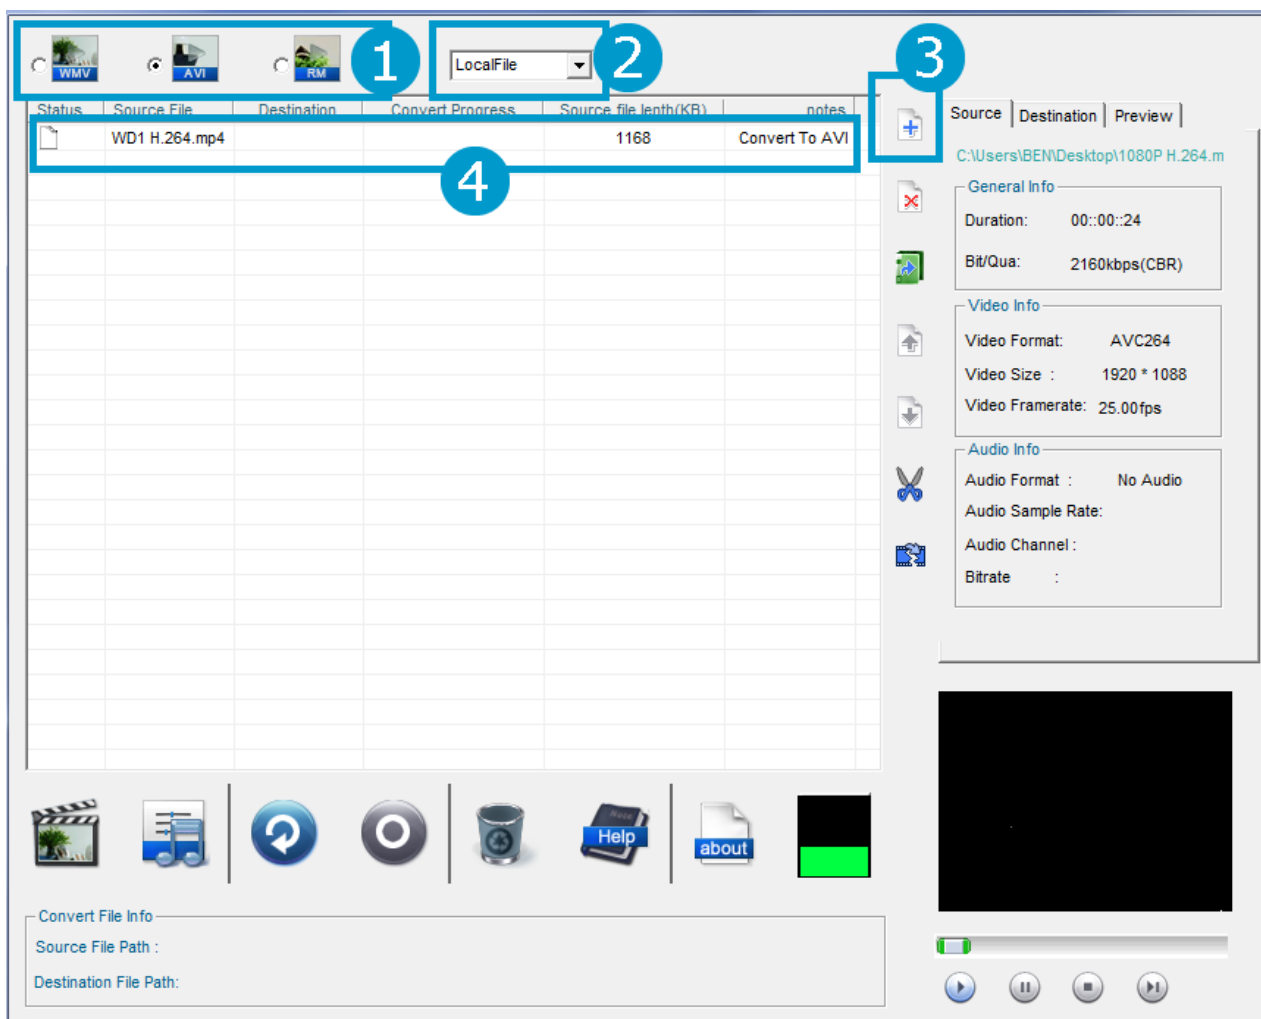

Double click the left-button on the icon of [Format Converter 3.1EnNeu-setup], then you can follow the instruction to complete the installation of software to your computer. Then enable the software, you will the page as below.

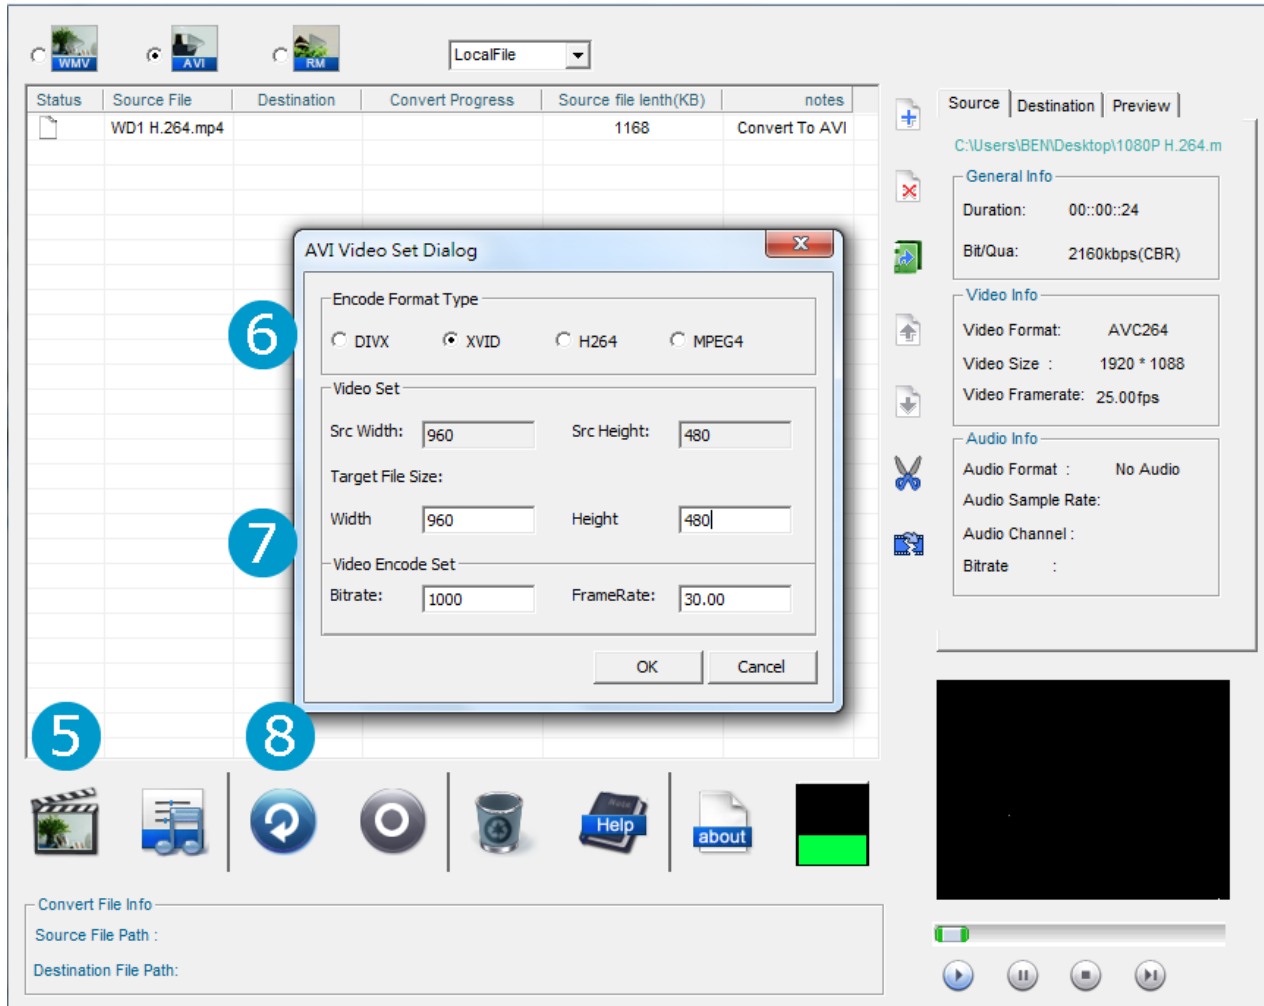

Convert WD1 (960H) Video to AVI Format

If the video file is recorded by 960 x 480 resolutions. Please follow the instructions below to convert the file.

1. Please choose [AVI] as the format you want to convert.
2. Choose [Local file]. Local file means the file you want to convert is at your computer (local site).
3. Click [Add file] button to choose the file you want to convert.
4. After adding, the file information will be shown on the list.

5. Click [Video Set] button.
6. Choose [XVID] as Encoded Format Type
7. Set video width and height as [960 x 480] / Bitrate as [1500]
8. Click [Start convert] button to start

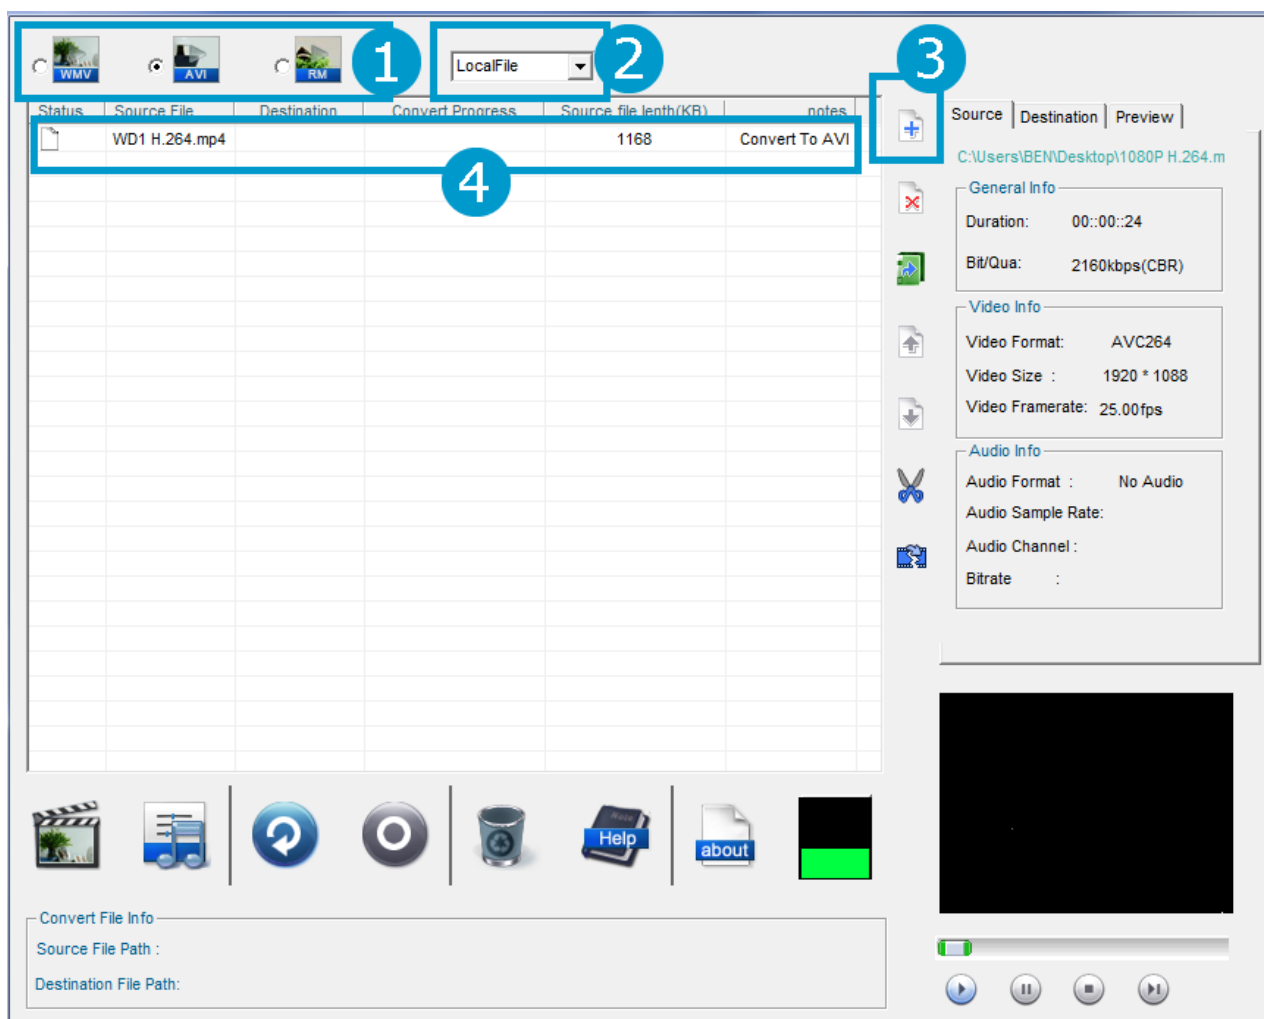

9. When the file is converted, then you can play the file by Windows Media Player directly

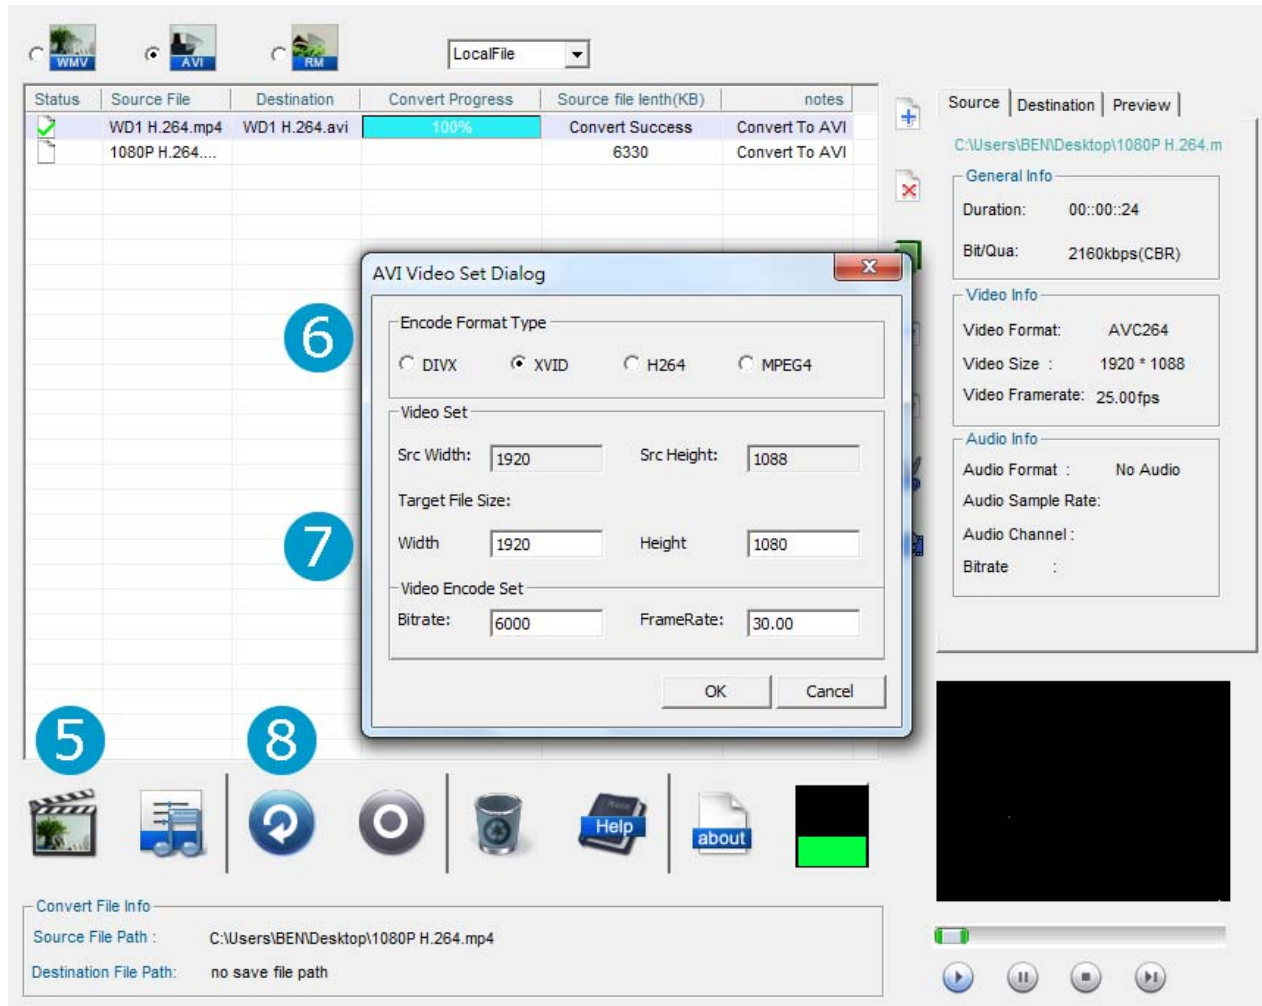

Convert HD-SDI (1080P) Video to AVI Format

If the video file is recorded by 960 x 480 resolutions. Please follow the instructions below to convert the file.

1. Please choose [AVI] as the format you want to convert.
2. Choose [Local file]. Local file means the file you want to convert is at your computer (local site).
3. Click [Add file] button to choose the file you want to convert.
4. After adding, the file information will be shown on the list.

9. Click [Video Set] button.
10. Choose [XVID] as Encoded Format Type
11. Set video width and height as [1920 x 1088] / Bitrate as [6000]
12. Click [Start convert] button to start

9. When the file is converted, then you can play the file by Windows Media Player directly